General Information

Overview

This foundational unit provides you with the knowledge and skills to work effectively within Indigenous contexts of the Criminal Justice System. This unit responds to the over-representation of Indigenous Australians within the criminal justice system, as offenders and as victims. You will discuss the impact of invasion and economic disenfranchisement on individuals and communities and explain systemic responses in policing, courts and corrections. Through the curriculum, you will be equipped with the skills and expertise to work toward sustainable societies that respond to inclusiveness based on respect for human rights, the rule of law and good governance. This unit explores the position of Indigenous Australians before the Western justice system and provides you with the attributes that allow you to be an active citizen engaged in reconciliation and social justice for Indigenous Australians.

Previous Student Feedback

Feedback, Recommendations and Responses

Every unit is reviewed for enhancement each year. At the most recent review, the following staff and student feedback items were identified and recommendations were made.

Feedback from Student evaluations

The final assessment items are due too close together at the end of the term, therefore feedback cannot be incorporated to improve assessment outcomes.

Recommendation

Split the unit diary into two due dates - one in the middle and one at the end of the term - enabling students the opportunity to embed formative feedback into future assessments.

Feedback from Student and educator feedback

Feedback

Continue to embed First Nations perspectives into the unit, including the provision of guest speakers.

Recommendation

At least one guest speaker should be engaged to deliver content during the workshop, providing students with the experience of hearing first-hand from a First Nations community member.
