General Information

Overview

This unit and its predecessor Collaborative Digital Media Project Part A require you to apply your accumulated experiences, skills and knowledge, developed throughout the Bachelor of Digital Media, to a real-world capstone project for an authentic client. Working collaboratively as part of a team, you will execute a digital media project, implementing the strategies documented in the project plan. The plan that your team developed in Collaborative Digital Media Project Part A in the previous term will be the blueprint for the production stage of the project, which will take place with the same team in this unit. You must complete Collaborative Digital Media Project Part A before enrolling in this unit.

Previous Student Feedback

Feedback, Recommendations and Responses

Every unit is reviewed for enhancement each year. At the most recent review, the following staff and student feedback items were identified and recommendations were made.

Feedback from Student discussion during term.

Feedback

While students were generally very satisfied with feedback, more could be done in class to differentiate expectations for feedback and for feed-forward in the weekly meetings with the Coordinators.

Recommendation

More discussion of feedback and feed-forward processes in the early weeks of the unit.
