HRMT11010 Organisational Behaviour

Term 1 - 2025

Profile information current as at 05/09/2024 01:33 pm

All details in this unit profile for HRMT11010 have been officially approved by CQUniversity and represent a learning partnership between the University and you (our student). The information will not be changed unless absolutely necessary and any change will be clearly indicated by an approved correction included in the profile.

General Information

Overview

Organisational behaviour is the study of human behaviour at work. The complexity of human behaviour means that this inter-disciplinary field of study draws upon the literature from psychology, sociology, anthropology and political science. In this unit you will examine theories and the research base from the social sciences that inform the way in which individual level factors (e.g. personality, attitudes, emotion and motivation), team level factors (e.g. leadership and group dynamics) and organisational factors (e.g. structure and culture) combine to explain behaviour. You will learn about the role of workplace behaviour and its critical role in organisational outcomes such as productivity, innovation and absenteeism.

Previous Student Feedback

Feedback, Recommendations and Responses

Every unit is reviewed for enhancement each year. At the most recent review, the following staff and student feedback items were identified and recommendations were made.

Feedback from Peer evaluation of the unit

Feedback

Assessment 2 - Individual essay is likely to raise academic integrity issues (possible AI tool support)

Recommendation

From T2-2023, Assessment 2 has been improved to an individual reflective essay. This requires students to complete one of the self evaluation tools provided to them and write an essay reflecting on their self evaluation scores and implications to self, their work/sports team, and current/future employer. This change therefore is fully aligned with unit learning outcomes.
