The information will not be changed unless absolutely necessary and any change will be clearly indicated by an approved correction included in the profile.

General Information

Overview

LAWS12061 Administrative Law examines the legal rules, principles and procedures applied by the courts and administrative tribunals to review and check the exercise of executive power and the legality of administrative (executive) action and decision-making, especially insofar as they affect the rights, interests and legitimate expectations of individuals and the public. It also looks at the constitutional, statutory, common law and equitable remedies available against invalid executive action and decision-making. Topics you will study in this unit include: the organisation and structure of the administration; administrative law theory; common law and statutory avenues of judicial review at Commonwealth and State level; grounds of judicial review; remedies; crown immunity; the Administrative Appeals Tribunal; statutory review; and Freedom of Information. This unit meets the LPAB requirements for administrative law.

Previous Student Feedback

Feedback, Recommendations and Responses

Every unit is reviewed for enhancement each year. At the most recent review, the following staff and student feedback items were identified and recommendations were made.

Feedback from Student evaluation

Students enjoyed the effort to make learning materials relevant and contemporary - "found the material very relevant and helpful for our own lives in the community, and also working in government roles"

Recommendation

Continue efforts to make learning materials relevant and tangible

Student comments reflected an appreciation for the way tutorials were conducted - "I couldn't speak highly enough of Jacob and how grateful I am for his approach to teaching" "Jacob is easy to understand and makes the content interesting in discussion" "Although I was not able to attend the live tutorials throughout the semester due to work commitments I really enjoyed the line of questioning that was asked throughout as it was a great opportunity to test my knowledge after I had completed the weeks work"

Recommendation

Continue emphasis on discussion and skill building in tutorials

Feedback from Moodle analytic data

Moodle analytic data indicated a low uptake of some resources including video and written guides. It is possible that the tile format makes these resources difficult to locate for some students

Recommendation

Review access of documents and consider posting resources to multiple locations across Moodle and Teams.
