General Information

Overview

LAWS12061 Administrative Law examines the legal rules, principles and procedures applied by the courts and administrative tribunals to review and check the exercise of executive power and the legality of administrative (executive) action and decision-making, especially insofar as they affect the rights, interests and legitimate expectations of individuals and the public. It also looks at the constitutional, statutory, common law and equitable remedies available against invalid executive action and decision-making. Topics you will study in this unit include: the organisation and structure of the administration; administrative law theory; common law and statutory avenues of judicial review at Commonwealth and State level; grounds of judicial review; remedies; crown immunity; the Administrative Appeals Tribunal; statutory review; and Freedom of Information. This unit meets the LPAB requirements for administrative law.

Previous Student Feedback

Feedback, Recommendations and Responses

Every unit is reviewed for enhancement each year. At the most recent review, the following staff and student feedback items were identified and recommendations were made.

Feedback from Tutor Reflection

Dealing with the change in law

Recommendation

From T2 in 2025, enough material on the Administrative Review Tribunal (the newly formed administrative tribunal) will be available. As such lecture material for week 4 will be changed to deal predominantly with the ART.

Feedback from Student feedback

Group work

Recommendation

This course will start to release assessments in week 1 as opposed to week 3 so as to help facilitate the formation of groups and make group work as productive as possible.

Feedback from Tutor Reflection

Incorporation of more theoretical content

Recommendation

Tutorials and lectures will from 2025 begin to include some theoretical content to help ground student understanding of key concepts.
