General Information

Overview

A short story contains multiple points of view and myriad narrative strategies. Moreover, as Patricia Hampl notes, the short story is 'acknowledged to be the most exquisite kind of prose fiction, requiring the perfect craft, the form in which the smallest slip can bring the whole contraption—plot, character, narration—down in a crash. A delicate business'. The aim of this unit is to provide students with an opportunity to explore the complexity and delicacy of the short story while developing their text-based interpretative and analytical techniques.

Attendance Requirements

All on-campus students are expected to attend scheduled classes – in some units, these classes are identified as a mandatory (pass/fail) component and attendance is compulsory. International students, on a student visa, must maintain a full time study load and meet both attendance and academic progress requirements in each study period (satisfactory attendance for International students is defined as maintaining at least an 80% attendance record).

Previous Student Feedback

Feedback, Recommendations and Responses

Every unit is reviewed for enhancement each year. At the most recent review, the following staff and student feedback items were identified and recommendations were made.

Feedback from Tutorial

Some students felt there were too many learning resources not organized efficiently.

Recommendation

A Universal Design for Learning structure will be adopted: a multimodal sequence of video, text, audio, and interactive elements allowing students to engage with concepts in ways that support diverse learning preferences, accessibility needs, and study contexts.

Feedback

Some students feel Zoom sessions need more structure and clear agenda

Recommendation

Cognitive Load Theory will be applied. The adoption of a consistent, predictable weekly rhythm (Video > Text > Podcast > Activity), will reduce "extraneous cognitive load."
