Profile information current as at 25/11/2024 06:56 pm

All details in this unit profile for LITR28002 have been officially approved by CQUniversity and represent a learning partnership between the University and you (our student). The information will not be changed unless absolutely necessary and any change will be clearly indicated by an approved correction included in the profile.

General Information

Overview

This unit examines contemporary theoretical concepts and issues in the context of the history of literary theory. You will explore the ethical and ideological implications of different critical perspectives and reading practices including liberal humanism, psychoanalysis, Marxism, structuralism, deconstruction, and feminism. You will discover how literary theory has contributed to shaping and critiquing contemporary culture, and will, in turn, enable you to make your own informed contributions to ongoing debates in literary fields and broader social contexts.

Previous Student Feedback

Feedback, Recommendations and Responses

Every unit is reviewed for enhancement each year. At the most recent review, the following staff and student feedback items were identified and recommendations were made.

Feedback from Teaching staff evaluation

Feedback

There is opportunity for greater scaffolding of unit content which allows students to build their familiarity and confidence with literary theory.

Recommendation

Build on the knowledge learned throughout the unit and also in earlier, lower level units.

Feedback from Teaching staff evaluation

Feedback

Students would benefit from having access to a glossary.

Recommendation

Build a glossary of key terms.

Feedback from Student feedback and teaching staff evaluation

Feedback

Review the assigned textbook and readings to ensure equity of access for all students.

Recommendation

Ensure the recommended textbook is available for all students.
