General Information

Overview

In today's dynamic business landscape, organisations strive for operational excellence and data-driven decision-making. Operations management and business analytics offer a comprehensive exploration of the synergies between efficient operations and the strategic use of data analytics. The unit explores the contemporary principles and practices involved in the management of both service and manufacturing operations. Taking a strategic approach to operations, you will examine fundamental concepts including process planning, design, and control; quality management, Lean thinking, and Six Sigma continuous improvement; the role of the supply chain in modern operations; capacity planning, facility location, and project-based activities within operational environments. Particular attention is given to the strategic implications of operational design choices in the context of uncertainty and resilience. You will utilise business data from a variety of organisational sources including financial, economic and market information and develop mathematical and analytical models that support effective operational decision making. The unit also provides opportunities to apply contemporary analytics and visualisation tools to interpret operational performance and communicate insights. In addition, you will engage in independent, evidence-based research to analyse operational challenges and propose viable, data-informed solutions that enhance organisational effectiveness.

Previous Student Feedback

Feedback, Recommendations and Responses

Every unit is reviewed for enhancement each year. At the most recent review, the following staff and student feedback items were identified and recommendations were made.

Feedback from SUTE

The unit provided useful insights on operations management and business analytics, specifically how to approach case studies that required mathematical and theoretical modelling. Overall the unit was delivered really well.

Recommendation

Continue with the same moment while including contemporary analytical tools and case studies.

Feedback from In class

Feedback

If possible, embed Power BI given its increasing use in industry

Recommendation

Embed Power BI dashboard for business analytics
