General Information

Overview

Rapid technological development and increased globalisation bring with it a wealth of new business and societal opportunities and challenges as competitive advantages of societies, nations, and companies continue to change. This unit focuses on developing your ability to think creatively about anticipating and responding to these developments and to identify opportunities and directions for sustainable growth. The unit develops your abilities to recommend practical innovation systems and programs for organisations. The unit improves your skills in analysing and synthesising information and developing solutions to improve the long-term sustainability of a business or organisation. You learn about concepts, principles, tools and techniques relevant to all phases of idea generation, concept development and commercialisation of new business models, new business processes, new products, new services and solutions to societal challenges. This unit identifies and explores the issues in implementing these solutions while recognising the competencies, power and access to resources of the individual and the organisation. This unit allows students to focus on an organisation, industry, or sector of their choice from a selected list of options for all assessments. If you have successfully completed the unit MGMT20128 you should not enrol in this unit.

Previous Student Feedback

Feedback, Recommendations and Responses

Every unit is reviewed for enhancement each year. At the most recent review, the following staff and student feedback items were identified and recommendations were made.

Feedback from Business reports from McKinsey & Co. and others state that AI will quickly become embedded in contemporary innovation and entrepreneurship practices, as well as in novel business solutions.

Feedback

Students studying innovation and entrepreneurship must be comfortable using AI and assessing its potential to contribute to innovation and entrepreneurship solutions.

Recommendation

The recommendation is to introduce students to the use of AI for innovation and entrepreneurship. However, it must be clear that students must use AI responsibly. Students' AI use must be guided by students' competent critical thinking, self-reflection, and ethical considerations, while ensuring academic integrity. It is recommended to continue to inform students about current AI developments and their impact on business innovation and entrepreneurship.

Feedback from Student and Unit Coordinator feedback.

Feedback

Students find it difficult to complete the assessment tasks within the current 2000-word limit.

Recommendation

It is recommended that the word count for Assessments 1 and 2 be extended from 2000 to 2500 words.
