General Information

Overview

This unit introduces you to the profession of an Oral Health Therapist and to your role within the dental team. You will be introduced to regulatory, ethical, and legal frameworks which form the basis of dental practice. In particular, this unit will focus on workplace health and safety, infection control and prevention, communication, practice management and requirements for registration. This unit will also develop the foundation knowledge and skills in the dental environment as you commence preclinical and clinical training. An important part of your preclinical training in this unit will be to gain theoretical knowledge in radiation safety and radiographic imaging procedures and learn to take both intra-oral and extra-oral radiographs safely and competently in a simulated environment. Mandatory requirements for clinical practice including, First Aid, Immunisations and Blue Card must be fulfilled.

Previous Student Feedback

Feedback, Recommendations and Responses

Every unit is reviewed for enhancement each year. At the most recent review, the following staff and student feedback items were identified and recommendations were made.

Feedback from In class

Students responded well to additional supervisors in radiography practical sessions and in the simulation laboratory sessions. Students felt that they learnt well in these sessions.

Recommendation

It is recommended that the current level of supervision in practical classes is maintained.

Feedback from In class

Feedback

Students would like more assistance in preparation for assessment in radiography theory.

Recommendation

It is recommended that support for learning radiography theory be reviewed and that the formative quizzes in radiography be developed further to improve feedback and to assist preparation for summative assessments.

Feedback

Students responded positively to the e-Portfolio where they were asked to upload evidence of their clinical skill development. Included in the evidence were photos of tasks carried out in practical sessions and certificates. Students could see how the e-portfolio would become useful for future employment applications and their professional career.

Recommendation

It is recommended that the e-portfolio remain as part of the Portfolio assessment.
