General Information

Overview

This unit is designed to help you, as a university student studying psychology, to build a set of evidence-based strategies to prepare you for your academic and professional life. You will receive practical instruction on how to effectively study at university; develop your written and oral communication skills; work effectively in groups; navigate the scientific literature; and apply American Psychological Association (APA) referencing conventions. Your communication, teamwork and research skills will be utilised in the design and preparation of a group presentation. You will also be introduced to career pathways in psychology-related disciplines, and given insight into the personal skills, capabilities and knowledge relevant to a career in psychology. The creation of a career portfolio will help you identify and market the transferable knowledge and skills that you will acquire throughout your degree.

Previous Student Feedback

Feedback, Recommendations and Responses

Every unit is reviewed for enhancement each year. At the most recent review, the following staff and student feedback items were identified and recommendations were made.

Feedback from Student feedback, self-reflection.

Feedback

Some students are unsure how to use generative artificial intelligence (Gen AI) while ensuring they adhere to the principles of academic integrity.

Recommendation

Continue to encourage discussion and provide resources related to digital literacy, focusing on the ethical and responsible use of generative artificial intelligence (Gen AI).

Feedback from Student feedback, self-reflection.

Feedback

The podcast is an informative and rewarding group experience, and the quality of the productions are of a high quality.

Recommendation

Maintain the podcast as the group assessment task but continue to grow the resources to assist students with scripting, recording, and editing podcasts.
