General Information

Overview

This unit forms the capstone project of the Master of Clinical Psychology and Master of Clinical Psychology (Advanced Entry) courses. In this unit, you will conduct a clinical psychology project in which you will engage a community-based partner to conduct a project. The project may involve research or an intervention to be evaluated. You will design and conduct the project, evaluate the project by collecting relevant data, and produce a written report of your project and evaluation.

Offerings For Term 2 - 2027

- Online

Attendance Requirements

All on-campus students are expected to attend scheduled classes – in some units, these classes are identified as a mandatory (pass/fail) component and attendance is compulsory. International students, on a student visa, must maintain a full time study load and meet both attendance and academic progress requirements in each study period (satisfactory attendance for International students is defined as maintaining at least an 80% attendance record).

Website

This unit has a website, within the Moodle system, which is available two weeks before the start of term. It is important that you visit your Moodle site throughout the term. Please visit Moodle for more information.

Previous Student Feedback

Feedback, Recommendations and Responses

Every unit is reviewed for enhancement each year. At the most recent review, the following staff and student feedback items were identified and recommendations were made.

Feedback from Student feedback (in-class).

Students appreciated the resources provided on the Moodle site that supported each stage of their community engagement project.

Recommendation

Maintain and continue to improve the Moodle site to ensure comprehensive, well-organised resources are available for all components of the project.

Feedback from Student feedback (in-class).

Feedback

Some students expressed concern about presenting multiple sessions as part of their community engagement project, particularly the need to design new resources for each session.

Recommendation

Work closely with students to help them structure their projects and timelines in a way that best fits their community partner setting. Encourage the use of existing resources where appropriate, while supporting the development of new materials when necessary.
