Previous Student Feedback

Feedback, Recommendations and Responses

Every unit is reviewed for enhancement each year. At the most recent review, the following staff and student feedback items were identified and recommendations were made.

Feedback from Unit coordinator reflection, 5-year review committee feedback

Feedback

Students undertaking individual research projects work primarily with their supervisors and may have limited opportunities to interact with peers. This situation can affect their sense of connection to the Honours cohort and broader university community.

Recommendation

Continue to offer scheduled Q&A sessions, alternating times and days to suit students' schedules. Consider facilitating fortnightly group writing sessions to support and encourage peer engagement, informal discussions of research progress, and scholarly exchange that complements supervisory relationships.
